MY BRAIN HURTS
C/O P.O BOX 826 PALM BEACH, QLD, 4221, AUSTRALIA

So, this here is issue number two of 'MY BRAIN HURTS'! We've decided to do a 'proper' intro after our 1st effort-FUCK SHIT UP! Issue 1 was meant to be a split with Edwin's zine, 'FACE IT' but printing & finances interfered with our plans. It's been a struggle, what with naff all money, one of us studying full-time & our two wee monsters to care for (they really are ch@os kids). So it can be done, even if you think you're too busy.

We'd also like this opportunity to say for ourselves & some other zinesters, a big fuck you to any bands who don't write back. Why include your address in a 7" or C.D if you don't even have the decency to respond to you're mail? If it weren't for people like us (your audience) you wouldn't be around.

A big thanx to the people who wrote in response to issue #1. You don't have to be a zinester to write- we wanna hear from YOU!

With regards to the straight-edge rant it was written a while ago & in retrospect we think maybe it's a bit bitchy & unconstructive. We decided to include it anyway & if you have any thoughts or whatever let us know & we will print them in the next issue.

Finally thanx & hello to: the Doves, Jon, Arijana & Edwin, Jow & Tommy, Vic, Max & Pam, Kevin, Paul M.D.C, Human Error, Tania Hot Pantz, Barricade, all our buddies in S.A, Vic., Sydney, Dave, Naomi & Shane, the fine folx we've met in QLD, anyone who gives a damn & uses their mind & most importantly our bairns-Brodie & Anika!

ONE obvious way the Government could save money is by abolishing the single mother's pension. This would be a direct saving and hopefully induce single mothers, mainly very young girls, to allow their babies to be adopted by loving couples who are unable to have children of their own.

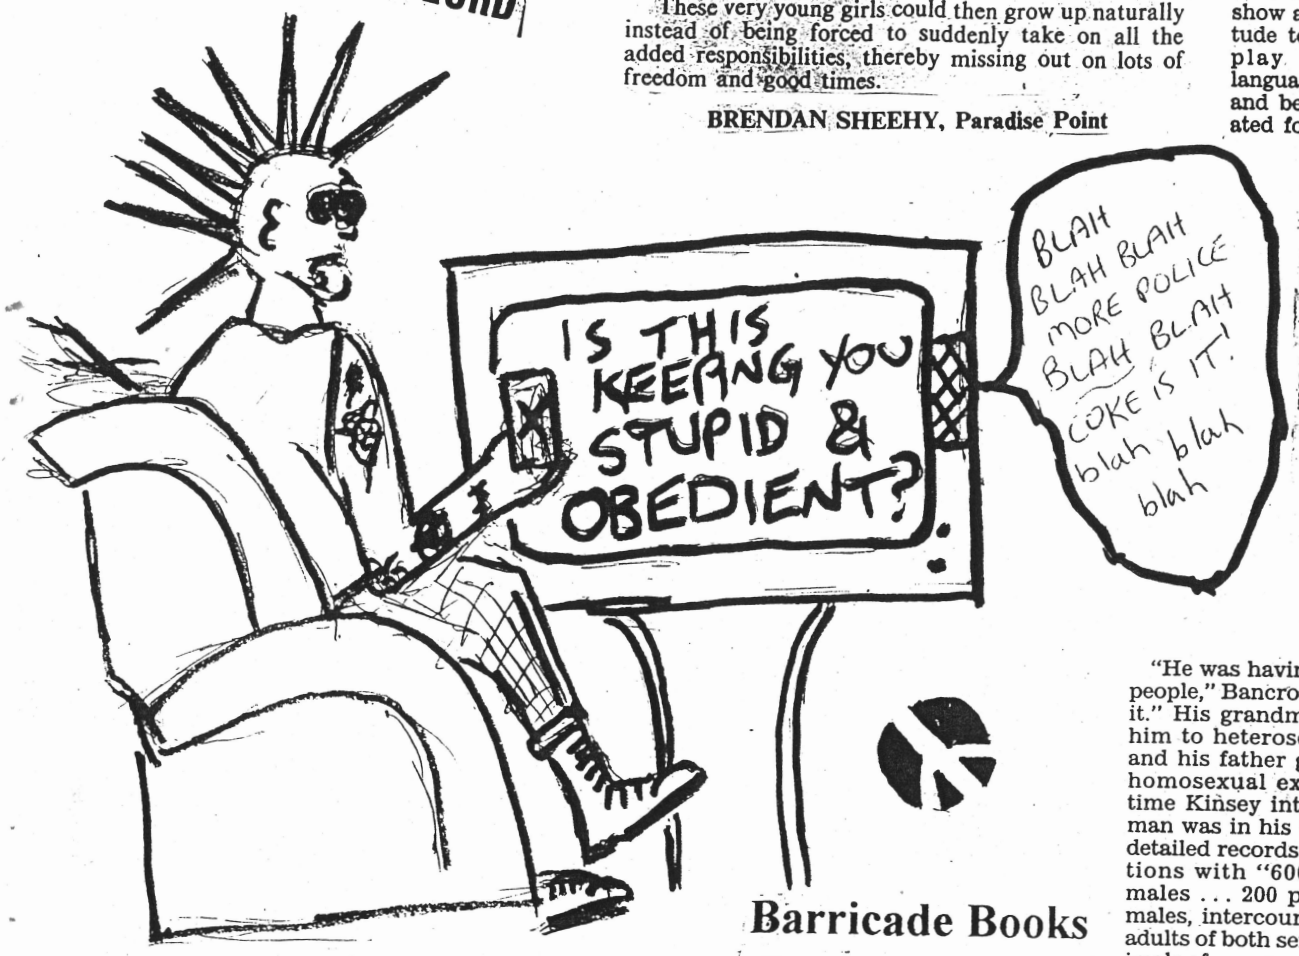
These very young girls could then grow up naturally instead of being forced to suddenly take on all the added responsibilities, thereby missing out on lots of freedom and good times.

BRENDAN SHEEHY, Paradise Point

They also expect young people to exhibit a dress sense and appropriate style and to be well groomed.

Jobseekers should also have basic social skills, show a professional attitude to their work, display positive body language, be confident and be generally motivated for work.

In some states women are not allowed to receive a single parent's benefit unless they receive an injection which will prevent pregnancy for five years. This even if it means the children are taken away from single parents who don't work.



"He was having sex with a lot of people," Bancroft says. "You name it." His grandmother introduced him to heterosexual intercourse and his father gave him his first homosexual experience. By the time Kinsey interviewed him the man was in his 60s and possessed detailed records of his sexual relations with "600 pre-adolescent males ... 200 pre-adolescent females, intercourse with countless adults of both sexes, (and) with animals of many species."

Barricade Books Censorship Trial Update

On Friday 12th April at Broadmeadows Magistrates Court, the Police 'generously' offered to drop two charges as long as our co-worker pleaded guilty to at least one charge. Malcolm, after waiting all day, elected to take advantage of this magnanimous offer and received a one year good behaviour bond. These obscenity charges were laid after a police raid on Barricade on 3rd July 1995 when allegedly obscene t-shirts and a pamphlet were seized.

WHY IS IT THAT SMEARING THEIR BODIES IN ANIMAL FAT(TALLLOW IN SOAP) MAKES MOST PEOPLE FEEL CLEAN???

A L F

Don't SUPPORT EXPLOITATION

ABOLISH VIVESECTION

THIS IS THE A.L.F.

What does direct action mean?
It means that you are no longer prepared to sit back and allow terrible, cruel things to happen. The cameraman in Ethiopa took direct action, he filmed the worst disaster that has ever happened to human beings. He realised it was too enormous a problem to handle himself - so he took the films home in the hope other people would help. They did. Are you prepared to sit back any longer? Direct action in animal rights means causing economic damage to those who abuse and make profits from exploitation. Start!
It's possible to do things alone, slash tyres, glue up locks butchers, burger bars, the furriers, smash windows, bankrupt the lot. Throw paint over shops and houses. Paint stripper works great on cars. Chewing gum sticks well to fur coats. A seized engine just won't start, sand in the petrol tank means that delivery's going nowhere. When the new death shop opens up make sure you're the first person to be there. If the circus comes to town remember what goes up must come down. Stop contributing to the abuse yourself - don't eat meat, don't buy leather. Buy non-animal tested make up, herbal soap and shampoo's better.
Try and form a group of peoplethat you know that you can trust and plan more ambitious direct action, sometimes risky but a must. Only when you have animal liberation will we obtain human freedom, when the last vivisectionist's blade is snapped. It will be that one step nearer to peace. Direct action in the animal movement is sussed and strong, and our final goal is not far off.
Animal lovers, vandals, hooligans, cranks; recognise the labels? They say we don't care about human beings. We say all sentient beings, animal or human have the right to live, free from pain, torture and suffering. They say because we are human and speak the same, we matter more. Is our pain and suffering any greater or lesser than that of animals? Human v. animal rights is as much a prejudice as black v. white or the nazis versus the jews, an affront to our freedom. Vivisection is a violation of human beings, the same as it is for animals. We have a chemical world built on a pile of drugs to thank for their experiments. Drugs are designed for profit, manufactured to suppress symptons. Human freedom, animal rights. It's one struggle, one fight. When animal abuse is stopped, then human abuse will soon stop also, an attitude of mind. "An eye for an eye leaves the whole world blind". Start by protecting the weak, the defenceless, animals, the sick, the disabled. Compassion and emotion are our most important safety values. If we lose them, then 'we lose' the vitality of life itself. EMOTIONAL HOOLIGANS CRANKS

BY CONFLICT.

Meat industry - more powerful than ..... ?

Richard Jones, Member of the Legislative Council of the NSW parliament in a speech to the Council on 26th June this year explored the theme of how powerful the meat industry is and the impact of animal production on the health of people, on the animals themselves and on our environment.

Richard Jones said: "There is, however, a powerful lobby group for products even more deadly than tobacco, which take more lives than tobacco and threaten the future of life on this planet. I do not mean the armaments industry, which has that capacity. Nor do I mean the gun lobby, which pales into insignificance by comparison. I am referring to the lobby for meat, eggs and dairy products. These products cause more premature deaths in Australia than tobacco, car accidents and guns put together. It is curious that while there is a 100 per cent tax on tobacco there is no such tax on these deadly products. I have already suggested to the Treasurer that he consider imposing a 100 per cent tax on meat, dairy products and eggs. This would deter unwary people from consuming them, and would go some way towards paying the medical costs of those who are unable to quit eating them - a classic case of user pays."

On the question of the environment he continued: "Survival of life on earth, including human life, has to be the number one issue. Nothing can be as important as this. No person can truly term himself or herself, a conservationist or environmentalist or even Green if he or she continues to eat meat or be involved in the meat trade. A meat eating environmentalist is as much an oxymoron as an animal-loving duck shooter. ..... Those who wish to make a genuine contribution to the environment must first give up eating meat. This is undoubtedly the number one environmental issue on the globe today."

He also addressed the question of why our media do not give coverage to the celebrated McLibel case currently being heard in the UK in which the fast food chain McDonald's is suing Helen Steel and David Morris for libel. Such a lack of coverage is strange given the implications for our health and the health of the planet.

Is the meat lobby powerful enough to prevent the truth from being heard?

Thugs bash publican in brawl at city hotel

Skinheads mercilessly bashed a city publican early yesterday.

Mr Steve Schild, 38, joint manager at the Crown and Anchor Hotel, was set upon by as many as five thugs wielding clubs.

Two other bar staff and two patrons were injured in the brawl, which police said lasted up to 10 minutes. They were bruised and cut by flying glass as windows were smashed during the rampage.

Mr Schild was taken to the Royal Adelaide Hospital where he received stitches to head cuts and underwent a CAT scan.

A hospital spokesman said Mr Schild was suffering from concussion but was in a satisfactory condition.

Two other people were treated at the RAH for cuts to their hands and face but were discharged early yesterday.

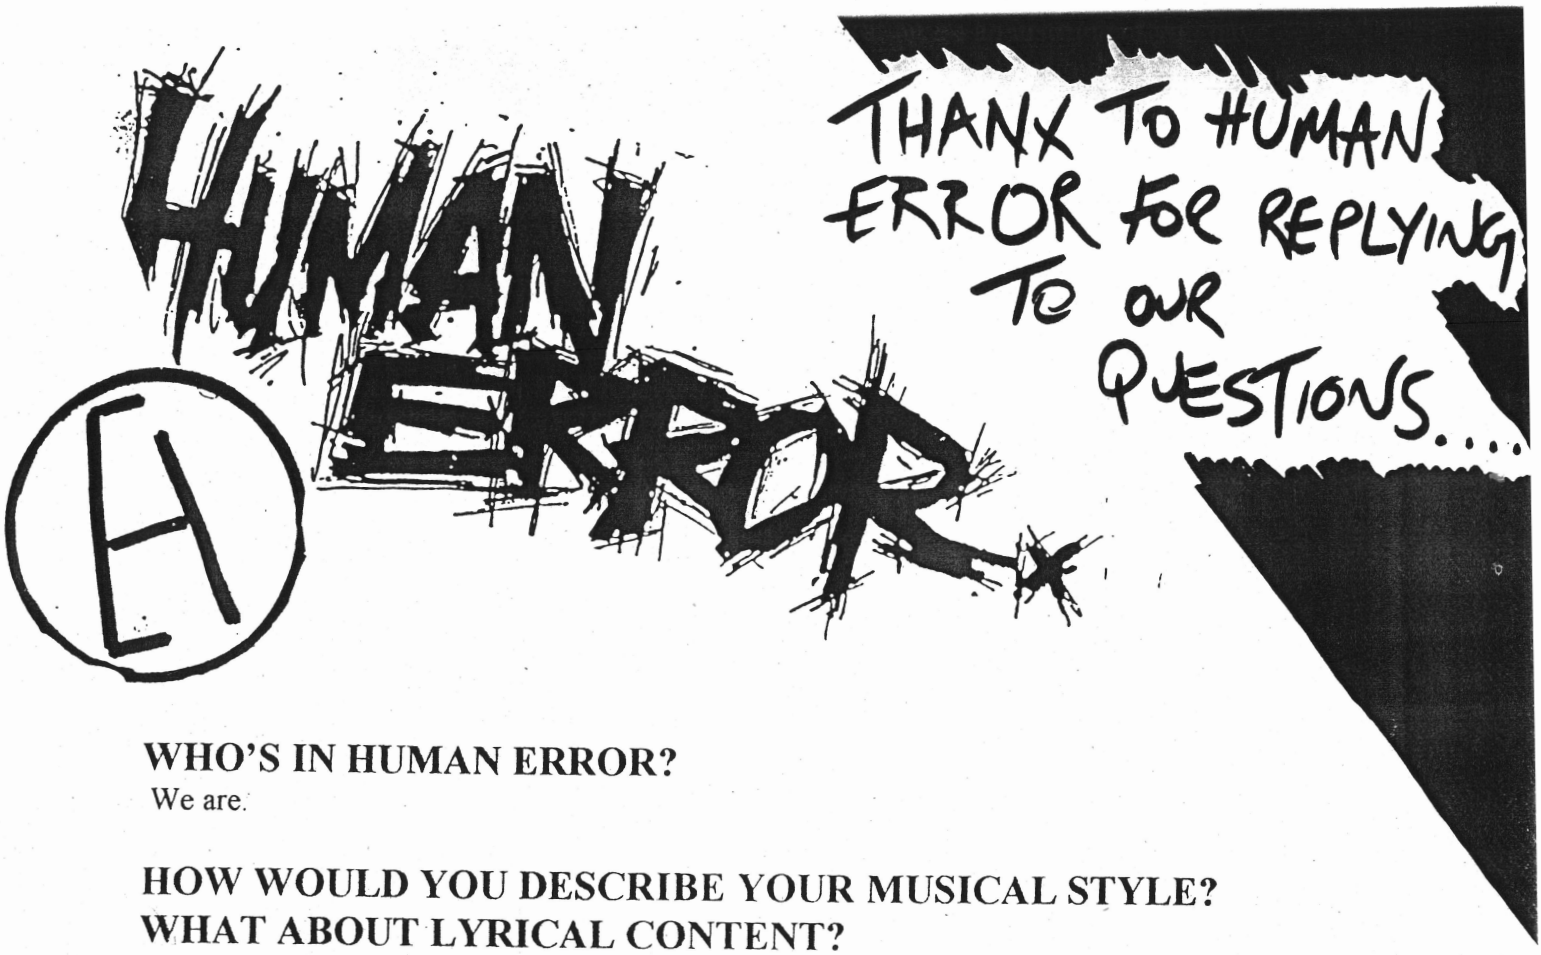
Earlier in the evening one of the skinheads had been refused entry into the Grenfell St hotel by security staff.

Police said as many as 200 revellers were packed into the hotel when he returned just after 12.30am with four crew-cut men carrying car steering locks and wooden stakes.

The men began punching and kicking bar staff and patrons who tried to intervene.

The skinheads, aged in their 20s, escaped in a blue 1985 model Ford sedan.

Police said last night that investigations were continuing.



WHO'S IN HUMAN ERROR?

We are.

HOW WOULD YOU DESCRIBE YOUR MUSICAL STYLE? WHAT ABOUT LYRICAL CONTENT?

JAMES: I find it very difficult to label my own music, especially when the musical style is not something I'm particularly into listening to. This is not how it was at the start, but now....
PHIL: Punk, pure and simple. Just straight forward punk inspired by early 80's U.K punk bands. Lyrics are angry. I can usually only write when I'm angry, so that's how they come out. It's hard to be positive these days, though my hate/rage is a product of love and the fact that I care about animals, people, the world.
DAVE: Basic punk (ie. you can jump around, not concentrating on an instrument you have very little knowledge of), lyrical content is the chance of being able to say how you feel about a subject, without the personlization of saying it to one person and having it construed as a personal attack.

WHAT FUTURE RELEASES DO YOU HAVE PLANNED? ANY DEMOS AVAILABLE?

JAMES: So far we have two demos "GET YOUR APATHY OUT OF OUR MUSIC" and "POWER VIOLENCE IN YA KNICKERS", as well as two tracks on "RIOT ON RAMSEY STREET" compilation benefit for BARRICADE BOOKS and a few songs on a comp tape by me, hopefully an appearance on the third "CORE SESSIONS" and a split 7" in a box set by Kieran from SMUT. As many comps as people will put us on.
PHIL: We've got a song on a comp. I'm putting out as a benefit for Duck Rescue. It's called "THE MYTH OF THE CLEAN KILL". It's also got PRICE OF SILENCE, FLYCOP, NOISAM and INSYTE. Greg has asked us for a song on a comp. on SPIRAL OBJECTIVE. I'm also releasing a bootleg of a CITIZEN FISH gig and an album by Perth band RUNT.
DAVE: More noise.

HOWS THE PUNK SCENE IN MELBOURNE?

PHIL: It's alright. I don't go out much anymore. Not many people on demos and such. Still a lot of apathy, but it is getting better. Food Not Bombs gets good support so that's cool.
DAVE: I think true friends can be found in all walks of life and the punks in Melbourne seem to agree in action and deeds. There is good and bad in all individuals and in all of us.

IS THERE MUCH CONFLICT BETWEEN STR8'ERS & PUNKS?(ie PUNX PICNIC)

JAMES: Who gives a fuck? Theres more important things to worry about in this world than who's straight, who's drunk and who's anywhere in between.

PHIL: This is so irrelevant to the fight. Bent-edge or straight-edge, who fucking cares? I certainly don't. Too many people get caught up in such a petty, puerile squabble. I've been both bent and straight, I've got better things to worry about. I hate this muckraking shit. People can write to Greg Objective at P.O box 126 Oaklands Pk S.A and get another side of the story before referring to or comparing people to fascists. Get a life.

DAVE: Some of my best friends are straight, some aren't. I've been called a pretentious straight-edger (even though I'm a drunk) and I think there are more important issues than your neighbours backyard when yours is in disarray. People usually pick on others 'problems' because they can't face their own. If a meat eater shoved a sausage in my face and when I got offended, said, 'Ohhh, ya can't take a joke'.

PHIL: Like certain drunks with x's on their hands did to str8-ers at the picnic.

DAVE: Of course I would arc up. The same happens when anyone hits at peoples personal beliefs. Their are bigger threats in the world than some one being straight someone being drunk.

WHAT ABOUT TROUBLE WITH NAZIS? DO YOU GET MUCH TROUBLE FROM POLICE?

JAMES: Chances are if you walk anywhere for too long within the inner city suburbs, you'll get pulled over by a cruising cop car. There are incidents every now and then when police violence becomes obvious (even to the average citizen) like the punks picnic night.

PHIL: I've been hassled by some piss-ants with no hair recently. They don't like me 'cos I'm an ex skinhead who's turned anti-nazi. They always walk away with me giving them shit, calling them morons, telling them to think. After I cut my dreads off and had no hair again one of them asked me if I was ready to rejoin the brother hood, fucking morons.

DAVE: Food Not Bombs is a collective which I contributed to founding. Our first kitchen was visited by the nazis, big thugs that used fear as their weapon, surrounding us and our B.B.Q stove giving us shit for having no meat in the food. One nazi punk (?) told a lot of the other street kids there at the time to not eat there, and like passive sheep they left.

PHIL: Although I wasn't there, a few weeks ago, some boneheads turned up to Food Not Bombs (my two mates were amongst them) and with weapons, intimidated people. Smash the fucks!

DAVE: The punx picnic arrests were police overkill, they grabbed a friend and pulled batons, so a few of us grabbed the batons to stop them assaulting him. This is what they were after, police poured out from everywhere, they were ready & pre-warned about this. A few of us fought back as hard as we could (to protect ourselves of course) as they beat us with batons and locked us up. I just made it out of lock-up for the gig, needless to say I was fired up that night. The police fuel our fire.

DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT 'BRUTAL ATTACKS' RECENT TOUR? (neo-nazi band)

JAMES: Heaps of boneheads (i.e. hundreds), whirlwind tour, done in extreme secrecy, fortress played, lots of boneheads going around all the clubs, got heaps of old boneheads out again.

PHIL: Not much, but I heard from a reliable source the nazis had cans of mace in case the gig was attacked which doesn't surprise me and their security was pretty tight.

WHAT'S THE SITUATION WITH THE SQUATS? WHAT HAPPENED IN COLLINGWOOD?

JAMES: The squat scene was huge here for a while, but now, in the last few months, every well established squat has been evicted, leaving squats that only last a few weeks. There was a cool community in Collingwood but every squat got evicted.

PHIL: In Collinwood I lived in a warehouse that was a venue for a while on Wellington St. It got evicted a few months ago. Around the corner was FABRYKA, a ware house squat that put on a cafe twice a week. That got evicted two weeks ago. A squat house I live in now is about to be evicted after 3/4 years. Heaps of other squats have gone, leaving only a hand full left. Most people from Wellington St & Fabryka either rent or have moved inter state.

WHAT'S THE STORY BEHIND THE MELBOUNE CUP DEMO?

PHIL: The band used to members of a new radical (?) group called E=Forse who helped me out with the anti-McDonalds protest. A couple of us went with E=Forse to the cup. The plan was to attract attention by walking onto the track and laying wreaths while some others ran on and chained themselves to the hurdles to delay a jump race. Amanda (E=Forse president), against our wishes, informed the police of the wreath laying to keep it legit. Some people are too trusting. The cops grabbed us before we made a move and escorted us out. It was very humiliating. A friend, Justin, made a dash for it but was caught before he locked on. It was a joke. The band has now dissociated itself from E=Forse and have stopped flying their banner at gigs like we used to.

WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF A GROUP LIKE 'ANIMAL LIBERATION' ALIENATING THE PUNK COMMUNITY? WOULD YOU PLAY A BENEFIT FOR THEM? DO BENEFITS STILL HAPPEN?

JAMES: Fuck Animal Lib. They like to take punx money through benefit gigs and t-shirts etc., but don't want them involved in the group.

PHIL: We have also disaccoitated ourselves from Animal Lib. They kicked me out after I had a fight with one of them. Him and others started by giving me and my partner Fiona shit for how we looked and 'cos of the anti-McDonalds protest. They hated HUMAN ERROR 'cos we flew an E=Forse banner at an Animal Liberation benefit gig. The president of A.L , VIC., Jim Roberts told friends of mine how he hated mine and other punx appearances. Now he is collaborating with the police concerning the A.L.F. and it's activities. Don't endorse groups, endorse yourself, but not too loud.

DAVE: Animal Lib. should be a cause, not a company and should not be judge mental of us 'cos we are animals too. Radicals become conservative, I'd rather stay radical.

PHIL: We did two gigs for them last year, but we will never do another one.

HOW'S LIFE IN MELBOURNE GENERALLY?

JAMES: Melb. is pretty good, but also extremely bad. It's cool 'cos there are heaps of cool people and heaps of bands. There are few venues here after Wellington St was evicted. Only really the Arthouse is left and we've been banned for being too political. It sux due to Jeff, it's much harder to squat recently and near impossible to rent. Melbourne's cool 'cos there is a really active scene and we have Food Not Bombs, a good book-store and heaps of interest.

PHIL: It sux, but it sure as hell beats Brisbane and Queensland. I don't think the scene is too active. I LOVE JEFF.

ANYTHING YOU WANNA ADD?

JAMES: I'm trying to get a distro happening, anyone who wants some help selling their stuff, write to me at GRANDPA LARRY RECS c/o HUMAN ERROR address.

DAVE: Yeah, butyric acid to government house air conditioning system.

PHIL: Regardless of what you or Jello Biafra think of us want to call us (he has already called three members of this band punk fundamentalists) he is a hypocrite and a wanker. He did do a concert sponsored by coke (after influencing me and others to boycott this wonderful company). I really don't think spreading his message around Australia justified such hypocritical bullshit. Anyway, gurus are for hippys, not punks. Oh yeah, talking of name calling, people keep calling us politically correct. I want to know what this means and if we are so correct, why are they so wrong. Cheers. P.S. I too have a record label called HUMAN ERROR RECORDS, so send me your tapes 'cos I'm gonna do a comp. album. FREE EAST TIMOR

The annexation of East Timor by the Indonesian dictatorship resulted in the loss of over 200,000 lives, a figure which continues to rise. Almost every East Timorese family has lost a family member. It is no wonder then that the East Timorese people continue to resist. Human rights violations by the Indonesian forces will only end when the occupation ends.

The Liberal government of Malcolm Fraser gave de jure (full legal) recognition to the Indonesian annexation of East Timor on the December 22,1978. This recognition was reaffirmed by the Hawke Labor government on August 18, 1985.
The Labor government strengthened ties between Australia and the Suharto regime in Indonesia. Australia has defended Indonesia's human rights record in international forums. Increasing numbers on Indonesian troops are trained in Australia, including elite Kopassus commandos, responsible for many atrocities in East Timor. In December 1989, the Timor Gap treaty was signed, allowing Australian and Indonesian companies to divide up the oil resources of the Timor Gap that rightfully belong to the East Timorese people. Australia refuses to give East Timorese fleeing from oppression the right of asylum.

The new Coalition government and foreign minister Alexander Downer have given every indication that they will continue this policy; to continue the support the Indonesian occupation of East Timor; to betray the East Timorese people.
The Australian government plays a crucial role in the oppression of East Timor, and so we must protest our own government's actions. The withdrawal of Australian support for Indonesia would be a huge victory for the Timorese people. We must make our wishes known in bigger and bigger mobilisations: mass support for the East Timorese and against current government policy.

AT least 60 police were injured when an angry mob stormed Parliament House in a bloody pre-Budget riot.

Officers were punched and kicked, and a policewoman had three ribs broken when she was beaten to the ground.

Effigies of Prime Minister John Howard were burned and an Australian flag atop Parliament House was torn down.

ABORIGINAL protesters yesterday attacked police with bricks, bottles and stakes during an angry confrontation outside Old Parliament House in a second day of violence in the capital.

Police were punched and a policewoman was taken to hospital in a serious condition after being repeatedly kicked as protesters attempted to break through a police barrier.

Protesters overwhelm police lines

Think about this.... in Victoria they shoot you if you're armed with a screw driver!-or if the filth figure you might be crazy....WOOAH. In all the bra hoo ha ha since Port Arthur nothings been said about dis-arming the pigs. In fact they get to keep their weapons of mutilation, designed for mass killings. Just in case. Just in case you or I or we get so pissed off that theres a threat to the running of the capitalist machine. Or if you threaten or rob that holiest of institutions-a bank! Shoot to kill! More police! Right-wing government!- Australia in the 90's?

THE sickening scenes of protesters kicking and punching police at Parliament House yesterday were fittingly described by Prime Minister John Howard as "un-Australian".

GUN CONTROL

FOR THE MASSES

(JOHN YATES – PUNCHLINE)

Here's some information some of you may find useful. This kind of knowledge used to be owned by women and was freely shared, but most of them were burned at the stake. Thankfully not all of their knowledge went up in smoke with them, but it sure is hard to find. So its up to us to reclaim it as our own- USE it! SHARE it! These recipes use some herbs that can also be hard to get hold of, but I know you CAN buy a lot of them as plants. So get gardening and grow enough to share around. GOOD LUCK!

Its YOUR UTERUS!!!

A Simple Way of Bringing on Your Period

(If you suspect an unwanted pregnancy)

This recipe should not be used on a regular basis, nor as a method of contraception. It is easy to prepare, costs almost nothing, and it is not known to have side effects.

The best time to begin the treatment is on the day that you were supposed to begin menstruating (or the next day).

The treatment lasts 3 days.

1. Insert a sprig of fresh parsley as far as possible into the vagina. Change the parsley every 12 hours. When soft, it may be difficult to remove, but this is not dangerous.
2. At the same time, drink parsley infusions (see p.46).
3. During these 3 days, take high doses of Vitamin C orally. The ideal dosage is 500 milligrams every hour (6000 mg per day) for up to 6 days. Vitamin C can bring on menstruation even three weeks after a "late" period. You can begin taking Vitamin C orally immediately after unsafe sex.

If successful, you should start to bleed within two or three days. You should know that :

- You may have cramps when you first start to bleed; take ginger infusions (p.44) as needed.
- That chances of this method working are lower for women who regularly take high doses of Vitamin C.
- That this treatment is not advised for women with kidney problems.

How to Bring on a Period Using Emmenagogues

(Emmenagogues are herbs which encourage menstrual flow by promoting uterine contractions)

These methods are not to be used as contraceptives. The recipes here use more concentrated combinations of herbs and are designed to induce a miscarriage. These plants can be used if you wish to abort naturally, but must be used in the manner indicated here. We provide these recipes knowing that only a few women will be able to use them under their optimal conditions.

It's important to know that the earlier you use these herbs, the more effective they'll be, but one condition is absolutely necessary : you have to be at the end of your cycle. This means that they will not work right after ovulation, as it is not possible to eliminate the fertilized egg before it has adhered to the uterine wall. Some herbs such as wild carrot seed can be used to prevent the fertilized egg from attaching itself to the uterine wall (see p.49).

You should begin drinking the teas the night before menstruation is to begin ; on that day, or up to 6 days afterwards—but not later! You may want to have a pregnancy test to verify whether you are really pregnant or not. These plants are not toxic, but keep in mind that if they can cause a miscarriage, they are certainly able to damage an embryo. You can use these recipes if you are sure that you can obtain a medical abortion if the herbs do not work. If you are sure you are pregnant, make an appointment for an abortion and then cancel it if these recipes succeed.

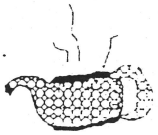
If you know you are pregnant and are sure that you want to terminate the pregnancy, act as quickly as possible. Women who are aware of their cycles have greatest chances of success. These recipes are not miraculous, but if you do them early enough, chances of succeeding are fairly good.

Use only one of the following 2 recipes.



Emmenagogue recipe #1

Ingredients

Motherwort, mugwort, goldenseal root, blue cohosh root, fresh ginger root.

Pennyroyal can be substituted for mugwort, however, it is hard to find in many parts of Canada (especially in Québec).

1. Infuse : 1/2 ounce (14 grams.) of motherwort (a medium-sized handful) and 1/2 ounce (14 gr.) of mugwort (a medium-sized handful) in 2 or 3 cups boiling water ; steep covered on low heat for 20 minutes and strain.

2. Make a decoction of 1 ounce (28 gr.) of blue cohosh root in 2 cups of cold water. Simmer on low heat for 20 minutes (covered) and strain.

3. Mix the infusion (from step 1) and the decoction (from step 2) together.

Dosage

Drink hot, 1/4 cup, 4 to 5 times per day, or drink a total of 1 and 1/2 cups per day, taking a small amount every hour.

In addition

Take 2 goldenseal root capsules 3 times a day ; chew on fresh ginger and/or drink as many ginger infusions (p.44) as possible.

Keep in mind

- The infusion tastes rather awful ; add honey.
- Stop taking the mixture as soon as you start bleeding, or after taking it for four days with no results.
- Most women should begin menstruating within 48 hours or so after beginning the treatment.
- You should know that these herbs can cause contractions and/or dizziness ; lots of rest is advised. They may also induce nausea and/or vomiting ; eat lightly.
- Do these treatments with a friend. They can check your progress, give support, massage, keep you sane, etc.
- Practice has shown that the more advanced the pregnancy, the more severe the side effects. We stress once again that this treatment should not be done more than 6 days after a missed period.
- See note "Important" following recipe #2.

Emmenagogue recipe #2

Ingredients

- 2 tablespoons dried blue cohosh root.
- 3 tablespoons dried pennyroyal leaves.
- 2 tablespoons dried tansy leaves and flowers (or leaves from the plant in flower).

Put the blue cohosh root into 6 cups of water and bring it to a boil. As soon as it boils, add the remaining herbs, cover and remove from heat. Let it steep for at least 30 minutes. Strain out the herbs and reheat (do not boil) before using. Dosage : 1 cup, as hot as possible, every 3 to 4 hours for no more than 5 days. Drinking this recipe while sitting in a hot bath increases its effectiveness.

Side Effects : same as for emmenagogue recipe #1 (see above).

Important : Even though complications are very, very rare, if you experience any of the following symptoms after using one of these recipes, go to a hospital immediately : extremely severe nausea, very high fever (103-104 degrees f), hemorrhaging (soaking through more than 2 pads an hour for over 4 hours). In the case of an incomplete miscarriage (indicated by passing large blood clots and/or hemorrhage), a D & C (dilation and curettage or scraping of the uterine wall) may be necessary.

Emmenagogue recipes numbers 1 and 2 should not be used together. You can take ginger infusions (p.44) or eat fresh ginger root while using emmenagogue recipe #2.

Other Emmenagogues

- Tansy leaves and flowers (p.48) can be taken in infusion or tincture to bring on a miscarriage. This plant helps stimulate menstrual flow. Dosage : 1 cup of infusion every 2 hours or 10-15 drops of tincture in warm water every 2 hours.
- Pennyroyal (p.46) can bring on a miscarriage by causing uterine contractions. Prepare an infusion of pennyroyal leaves and drink it as hot as possible—you can drink it while sitting in a hot bath. Maximum dosage : 4 cups per day for no more than 5 days. A teaspoon of brewer's yeast in each cup helps increase the effectiveness of this plant. Never ingest pennyroyal oil; it is highly toxic and can cause death (no joke!).

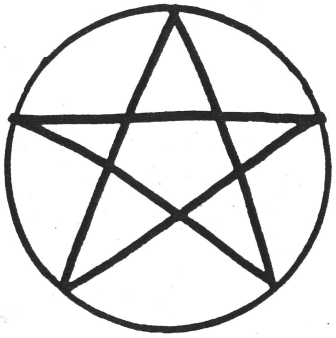
one of this patriarchal system's prime tools of oppression over women is the corporate controll over our bodies - by pharmaceutical companies, and the "religion" of western medicine. TAKE BACK THE KNOWLEDGE

Things you should know

- Make sure you choose good-quality dried herbs.
- Visualization and meditation help when using emmenagogues ; imagine the egg being dislodged from the uterus and then expelled. Having someone massage or press down on your lower abdomen can help stimulate uterine contractions and induce menstruation.

- Alcohol, sugar, nicotine and caffeine all interfere with the body's ability to absorb herbs. Try to minimize your intake of these substances during the course of these treatments.
- Drink lots of water when using any of the recipes and herbs listed above.

Do not, under any circumstances, exceed the recommended dosages.



I know from my own pregnancies that there are some essential oils that can induce miscarriage & also that to massage a certain part of the foot helps bring on labour. I tried to research whether either of these could be used to help bring on a period in this situation but couldn't find sufficient info. If any of you have any info please write to me. Thanx — LISA

for most flowers, leaves and stems

A very basic method

2 cups of boiling water per 1 ounce (large handful) of herbs, leaves or flowers. This is good for dried herbs, use slightly more when they are fresh.

Add plant material to boiling water ; remove from heat and cover. Infuse (steep) for at least 20 minutes and strain.

Another method

NB : This method is more effective as it extracts more of the plant's medicinal properties.

Use 2 ounces (2 large handfuls) of the plant parts you need per every 4-5 cups of water used (or 1 ounce of plant per 2-3 cups water).

Bring the water to a boil. Put the plant material in a mason (pickling) jar. Pour the boiling water into the jar over the plant material ; try to leave as little air as possible. Screw the lid on tightly. Let it steep at room temperature:

- for flowers : 2 hours
- for leaves : 4 to 6 hours
- for flowers and leaves : 4 hours
- for seeds and berries : 30 minutes
- for roots and bark : 8 hours or overnight

Strain the infusion when it is ready.

Never boil infusions, even when reheating them. Boiling destroys the potency of the plants.

Infusions can be preserved in the fridge for 2-3 days, in tightly capped jars. This way you can prepare them in advance, and reheat them as needed.

DISCLAIMER: the use of herbs can be very powerful & the effects may vary with different women, therefore we cannot be held responsible for any adverse effects resulting from these recipes.

PUBLISHED BY CHATTO & WINDUS
Lucky me got a cheap copy. This book retails at about $25 so its expensive! Anyway its very entertaining & informative. What's particularly interesting is the bits on the Anti-Fa & @narchists. Ingo grows up to be a neo nazi in East Germany. He became a central figure in the fascist, re-unified Germany. On his way he battles the state & the militant left(& of course the @narchists) Pretty scary behind the scenes expose on just how organized fascist groups world-wide are. Fucking good book anyway.

San Francisco, Calif. 94140-0682
Wow. A university paper metamorphized into a glossy covered book! It's a really interesting, in depth read about -punk! Divided into sections including media mis-representation, skinheads, anarchy, homo-sexuality, feminism, fanzines, ecology & animal rights & str8-edge! Craig's interpretation is pretty well spot on in my opinion. Well researched and easy to read. It's nice when some one puts into words what you think/feel about things. And if you don't like it or agree then DO YOUR OWN.

STR8-EDGE ???

STR8-EDGE?

STR8-EDGE ???

Righto then..... heres my critique & opinion on straight-edge. As a disclaimer I wanna state that ive known one or two people who would identify themselves as str8-edge & are great people. Anyway for a 'movement' that probably started off with justifiable intentions it seems to have become somewhat a right-wing, reactionary movement dominated by a jock mentality. What these people have to do with punk rock is beyond my grasp but still !! Whilst it may be argued that the punk movement may have condoned & even encouraged alcoholism & drug abuse/addiction who wants to be around a bunch of puritanical bigots. To deny someones right to indulge in whatever drug they fancy is just plain fucked. Its none of your fucking business Like I said whats your prejudice got to do with punk?? Fair enough to get pissed off if your peers/friends are dying or fucking up venues, fighting or whatever but is the answer to form some sort of fascist police force & ram your shit down everyones throat. Perhaps more sinister & disturbing is the idea that some people believe they have the right to tell others what is or isnt okay for them to be doing, deciding or living! The homophobic, sexist, patriarchal, anti-choice all round fascist bullying attitude is bloody outrageous.

To totally change tack here, another thing that shits me is the totally wishy-washy look & general watering down of the punk style. Now on the whole str8-edgers are at the forefront in this respect. Short hair, grey or green t-shirt, baggy pants & what appear to be golf shoes(?). Devine. Whilst Im being picky & personal I might as well state that the music is kinda irritating 'n' all. Still, three just my personal opinion. A fact is that str8-edge seems to becoming kind of popular. so more & more macho wankers full of moralistic jingoism are coming to gigs or corrupting the punk movement. Meanwhile totally purile, fucked up bands make their way onto otherwise decent compilations & pissy, prissy zines get popular. God its BORING!

Sure personal politics are important but take a look at the bigger picture. Chill out. Have a beer. Go on. Just one.....it wont kill ya!

Just kidding. If your not into something as natural as wanting to get high in some way sometimes dont. But dont be a pig about it yeah? I personally dont really give a fuck what you decide to do. Just realise that theres room for everyone & diversity should be a good thing. Cheers!
